

Accommodation

It is easy to arrange accommodation yourself using internet, however you can also ask B&W Internships to take care of it. You will specify the requirements the accommodation has to meet and we'll and we shall then search on your behalf. Most interns want to stay in a house which they share with other international students, but if you prefer to live with an Australian host-family this can be arranged. You will have your own bedroom and be part of the family.

Australia: unlimited opportunities

Australia: who doesn't dream travelling to the other side of the world to discover this great continent? Upon arrival you will notice that Australians are easy going and hospitable. Major cities like Melbourne and Sydney are modern, clean, spacious and green. Nightlife is abundant and there are plenty of pubs. The beaches are among the best in the world and the nice weather invites you to go swimming, surfing or diving.

Once you leave the city there are many national parks to explore. Australians love camping, barbecuing and bushwalking and all over the country there are lots of places where do this. A trip to the Outback, Australia's dry inland, is quite an experience as is a visit to Queensland's tropical North. Here you will find many bounty island, the world-famous Great Barrier Reef which offers countless snorkelling and scuba-diving opportunities.

Australia has signed bilateral treaties with a number of countries, allowing residents of these countries to enter Australia on a working holiday visa. With such a visa you can get a job and earn money while travelling around Australia having the time of your life.

To Australia with B&W Internships

B&W Internships has its own office in Sydney and can therefore arrange tailor-made internships and look after you when you are in Australia. Thanks to our extensive network we can arrange internships in many fields in all major cities in Australia.

Popular fields are: marketing/ PR, HR, finance, (event)management, tourism and nature conservation and environmental protection.

Since English is the main language and a rather relaxed work climate you will easily adjust. The internships are generally very good and supervision is excellent but they are unpaid. Hospitality internships can be the exception to the rule.

Based on the profile you send us, B&W Internships will arrange your internship, if necessary we'll consult with your school or university. The host-company will provide a supervisor. We offer local support, an evaluation and a reference upon successful completion of your internship.

We also arrange your public liability insurance which is compulsory when you do an internship in Australia.

Each student aged 18-30 can apply. You can start your internship year-round. We recommend you to apply no later than 3 months prior to the day you want to start your internship.

Hospitality internships

Australia has tourists a lot to offer and in all cities and popular coastal regions there are a wealth of hotels and resorts. If you are taking a course in tourism or studying hotel management you can apply for a hospitality internship. You can work behind the counter, assist in the kitchen, serve in the restaurant or get management experience. It is possible to arrange a paid position but this takes a lot of time and is not easy. You will increase your chances when you apply 4 months or more before the intended starting date of your internship.
